

Morocco

Estimated population 30 million

A former French colony apart from small sections which were under Spanish control Morocco has been an independent Monarchy since 1956. Morocco claims sovereignty over the Spanish North African enclaves of Ceuta and Melilla. It is the only African country not a member of the African Union and instead looks towards its Arab identity as a member of the Arab League. The country is rated 123rd for Human Development and its GDP per capita in 2005 was $1,712. The mining of phosphates is the country's major earner followed by emigrants remittances and tourism. Female life expectancy is 73 and male 68.
