Estimated population 10 million

The success of low-cost Asian products has diminished Tunisia's ability to compete on European markets and the government has responded with a programme of modernisation of its educational system and physical infrastructure. It has also invested further in its lucrative tourism industry. Tunisia is an important producer of olives and olive oil and there are significant hydrocarbon deposits. Tunisia's GDP per capita is almost $3,000 and it is ranked 87th for Human Development. Female life expectancy is 76 and male 71.
